SHANTUNG ASSEMBLY MEN ASSAIL DR. W. W. YEN

Call Acceptance Of Settlement "Treacherous"

APPEAL TO WU

Sanction Given In Order To Hold Job, Charge

Alleging that Dr. W. W. Yen, Minister of Foreign Affairs, has acted treacherously in accepting the Shantung settlement at Washington, twenty-six parliamentarians of the Shantung Provincial Assembly yesterday addressed a telegraphic appeal to General Wu Pei-fu, the Chihli leader, urging immediate action against the Yen Cabinet. Wu had previously declared that he would defy any Cabinet which would agree to any unsatisfactory arrangement on the Shantung question.

"We were greatly alarmed at the circular telegram distributed by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, announcing the 'settlement' of the Shantung Controversy," says the message. "The question of the Shantung Railway concerns the life and death of the 30,000,000 residents of Shantung. When Liang Shih-yi was suspected of negotiating a Japanese loan for the redemption of the railway, there was a public uprising. The different classes of people in the Republic advocated the re-purchase of the road by cash payments, which were to be raised by the people themselves. Spontaneous outbursts of enthusiasm responded to the call of time and during the last ten days, more than $24,000,000 have been pledged.

ACTED TO HOLD JOB

"However, W. W. Yen, in order to retain his own position and desirous of assuming the premiership, has ignored the popular wish and, usurping the power of the Cabinet, did on December 26 secretly instruct the three delegates at Washington to yield on Tokio's proposal to employ a Japanese traffic manager and a Japanese chief accountant and to extend the time for the redemption of the road to 15 years. He further instructed the delegates to attach their signature on the Japanese arrangement immediately.

"Liang Shih-yi would never have dared to do any of these things, yet Yen deliberately committed himself to each and every one of them during the three days when he was Acting Premier. We do not know what grudge he has against our Shantung!

"Your patriotic views on the Shantung issue are well-known to us. We wonder how you are reacting now? What plans have you to right the wrong? It has been rumored that your consent was first obtained before Yen took this action? Is this true? Our nation cannot be fooled! We cannot tolerate this!

"SUGAR-COATED"

"The first half of the circular telegram of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs is sugar-coated in order that the entire nation may be deceived. The last half, which dealt with the Shantung railway, was too brief to be intelligent. It was circulated to 'pull wool over the eyes' of the world. There could not be a worse trick, a more crafty intrigue!

"Up to the present, you have chosen to remain silent on the issue. We are all the more suspicious. If you really love Shantung, you must at once demand from the Central Government and the three delegates the return of the lost position and preserve the sovereignty of our nation.

"For years we have exerted our efforts in different ways in the hope that the Shantung cause might be readjusted to our satisfaction. However, the railway problem, which is the crux of the whole situation, has been solved in accordance with the desire of the Japanese Government and a treaty on it has been signed, sealed and delivered through secret instructions, while the public willing to redeem the road with cash has been deliberately ignored. Never can we recognise this sort of settlement! We trust you will rise to the occasion, keep your words and co-operate with us in relieving us from this dangerous plight!"

A "red book" will be issued by Peking on the Shantung proceedings.

Bust Of Caruso Will Be Gift To Metropolitan Opera House

THIS heroic bust of Enrico Caruso, created by the noted sculptor, Onorio Ruotolo, of New York, will be presented to the Metropolitan Opera House by the Italian Musical League, of which the wonderful tenor was the Honorary President, appointed for life. The bust impersonates the great tenor as he will be seen by succeeding generations, through the legend, which will undoubtedly surround his name. However, the bust bears a striking resemblance to Caruso as he was in the flesh. As the Greeks and Romans crowned their "Livi Cantori," so Ruotolo has crowned with laurels the greatest singer of the age.

Offer Of Striking Seamen To Arbitrate If Union Is Recognised Is Rejected

Hongkong Governor Promises Safe Conduct, And Suggests Question Of Reopening Organisation's Headquarters Need Not Arise

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, Feb. 9.—The British Consul-General at Canton has telegraphed to the Governor that the seamen's leaders are prepared to proceed to Hongkong to confer with the owners conditional on the Union's office being reopened and a guarantee of their freedom from arrest, stating that they were not responsible for the intimidation in the Colony and to appear at a conference as members of an outlawed society would place them in a false position.

The Governor has replied promising that the delegates shall be given safe conduct, but the Union cannot be reopened. The point in the last sentence of the Consul-General's telegram need not arise if the delegates come as the representatives of the seamen and not of the Union. The Governor affirms that intimidation is rife in Hongkong, Canton and Sheklung and he enquires whether in view of their statement the Union authorities are prepared to issue a public repudiation of intimidation and make clear that the men wishing to return to work need not fear any consequences.

The seamen in Canton from Hongkong have offered to construct a public roadway in Canton without wages in remembrance of the strike.

It is reported that the municipality has not accepted the offer, pending a survey of the cost.

Hongkong, Feb. 9.—The Canton Chinese Chamber of Commerce has written a letter to the Hongkong Chinese Chamber of Commerce pointing out the gravity of the strike situation and urging mediation as a means of securing an early settlement.

Nile Bound To Hongkong With Entire Chinese Crew Pledged To Join Strike

Marine Workers Of Shanghai Pledge Moral And Financial Support To Men In South Where Vessels Still Are Tied Up

While active steps are being taken by marine workers in Shanghai to give all possible aid to the striking seamen and cargo carriers at Hongkong and the labor unrest is sweeping swiftly through all the larger coast ports, more evidence that the big labor controversy is farther from settlement that ever before is to be gathered from each arriving ship.

The China Mail liner Nanking which arrived here yesterday from San Francisco by way of Honolulu and Japanese ports in all probability will join the inactive strike-bound fleet when it arrives in Hongkong whence it sailed yesterday. On the ship's arrival here yesterday it was learned that while still on the high seas the entire Chinese crew of the Nanking held a vote and decided to join the strike.

LINE IS CRIPPLED

This will fairly cripple the passenger service of the China Mail whose steamers The China and The Nile both are held at Hongkong along with the Monteagle and the Empress of Japan of the Canadian Pacific Services. All efforts are being made by the China Mail and the Canadian Pacific Steamships to move their vessels, but no announcements have been issued concerning possible future sailing dates of the ships that are held up.

The United States cruiser Wilmington will sail for Hongkong tomorrow, presumably because of the continuance of the seamen's strike, there being no American vessel at present in Hongkong harbor. The Villalobos will be stationed at Shanghai during the Wilmington's absence, which, it is expected, may be about a month.

The movement to draw Shanghai workers into the controversy is rapidly taking more definite form. Following a meeting held on Wednesday at the quarters of the Chinese Labor Association, 19 North Chengtu Road a number of subscriptions have been made to a fund to aid the strikers.

There were few present at the meeting, which pledged itself to efforts to organise a seamen's union among the Ningpo men with a view to having them refuse to join the crew of any ships while the strike at Hongkong holds out. Up to the present, the Ningpo men have not shown sympathy toward the Cantonese strikers, and the crews of several large ocean liners have been recruited from among them.

PLEDGE FINANCIAL AID

It was decided to send a cable to Hongkong pledging the financial and moral support of the Shanghai sympathisers to the strike movement and urging that every effort be made to continue the strike until the southern seamen could be more thoroughly organised.

Similar organisations of sympathisers, it is said, are being formed in other ports.

Woo Shih-ing, chairman of the Association of Chinese Returned Laborers from Europe, was sentenced to one week in jail in the French Mixed Court on a charge of distributing circulars urging support of the Hongkong strike. The manager of the Hupeh Reconstruction Association was fined $5 on a charge for printing the circulars.

Recruiting of Ningpo men is going on in full swing in Shanghai at present, and within the next twenty-four hours, it is expected that some 350 Ningpo seamen will be leaving Shanghai for Hongkong. Efforts to get 400 men for the Empress of Japan and the Monteagle have been attended with some success. 200 of these seamen having been secured already, a number sufficient to get one of these boats off from Hongkong. The China Mail Steamship Company have succeeded in collecting 150 men, and they will be leaving very soon for the Crown Colony.

MANY SENT SOUTH

It is estimated that together with these 350 men some 1,550 Ningpo seamen have been recruited in Shanghai as strikebreakers since the strike broke out in Hongkong. The first batch, consisting of some thousand Shangtung men were taken down from here for Blue Funnel boats that were tied up in Hongkong. Four or five Blue Funnel vessels were enabled to get away with the aid of these Shangtung seamen. The Pacific Mail Company's Golden State, when she arrived here had 108 Ningpo men placed on board and her crew of southern men taken off before she left for Hongkong.

The Bay State was due to leave Hongkong this morning for Shanghai. She took a new crew of Filipinos in Hongkong, the crew having been delivered there by the Wenatchee from Manila. The Bay State is expected here on Sunday. She is bringing no cargo from Hongkong.

2,500 BACK AT WORK

The Hongkong Civil Administrator of Chinese Affairs has issued a notice that the Governor-General will appoint an arbitration commission of two foreigners, two Chinese and an official of the Colony whenever the strikers and employers express a desire to arbitrate the question according to a Hongkong telegram to Sin Wan Pao.

The same telegram asserts that 2,500 dock workers returned to work yesterday and that the Hongkong police have began recruiting 2,400 additional workers to be paid $1.50 per day and free tiffin.

Conference Put Japan Right With World, Says Prime Minister Takahashi

Clouds Hitherto Hanging Over Japanese-American Relations Dispersed, He Says; Points To Results As Vindication Of Policy

(China Press Service)

Washington, Feb. 8.—Following is the text of the agreement of the United States, Great Britain, and Japan effective February sixth, 1922:

The status quo with regard to fortifications and naval bases shall be maintained in their respective territories and possessions specified herein:

1.—The insular possessions which the United States now holds or may thereafter acquire in the Pacific Ocean, except (a) those adjacent to the coast of the United States, Alaska and the Panama Canal Zone, not including the Aleutian Islands, and (b) the Hawaiian Islands;

2.—Hongkong and the insular possessions which the British Empire now holds or may hereafter acquire in the Pacific Ocean, east of the meridian of one hundred and ten degrees east longitude, except (a) those adjacent to the coast of Canada, (b) the Commonwealth of Australia and territories, and (c) New Zealand;

3.—The following insular territories and possessions of Japan in the Pacific Ocean, to wit: the Kurile Islands, the Bonin Islands, Sumami-Oshima, the Loochoo Islands, Formosa, and the Pescadores, and any insular territories or possessions in the Pacific Ocean which Japan may hereafter acquire.

Maintenance of the status quo under the foregoing provisions implies that no new fortifications or naval bases shall be established in the territories and possessions specified; to wit, no measures shall be taken to increase the existing naval facilities for the repair and maintenance of naval forces, and that no increase shall be made in the coast defenses of the territories and possessions above specified. This restriction, however, does not preclude such repairs and replacements of worn out weapons and equipment as is necessary.

Washington, Feb. 6.—Senator Lodge in commenting on the close and the accomplishments of the Disarmament Conference stated that by not trying to do too much the Conference had accomplished something real and practical. The limited agenda was the secret of its success, he said.

"I cannot but believe that the work of the conference, not only will lighten the burden of armaments, but it has done much to promote the maintenance of peace in Far Eastern regions where wars so readily start," said Senator Lodge. His sentiments were reiterated by Signor Schanzer, the Italian delegate, while the Belgian Ambassador declared:

"The conference will stand as one of the epoch-making events in the history of the world since it was inspired by a notable desire for peace and justice."

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Feb. 8.—It is stated that at a dinner at the White House, at which President Harding entertained the steering committees of the Senate and the House of Representatives, it was agreed that the treates signed at the Washington Conference should be given precedence in the Senate until the report of the Tariff Bill had been received, when it was proposed to deal with the treaties and the Bill alternately.

It is stated that President Harding has given his assurance that there will be little, if any, opposition to the treaties.

Washington, Feb. 9.—President Harding has ordered the suspension of construction and work on fourteen capital ships in accordance with the Naval Treaty.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, Feb. 8.—Interviewed by a representative of the Kokusai News Agency, the Prime Minister, Viscount Takahashi, said: "The Washington Conference will have the most important bearings on the realisation of lasting peace in the Orient. Its achievements are practical and will be historic. The success achieved is especially appreciated by Japan who, thus far, has been the victim of international suspicion and distrust, inspite of her repeated disavowals of any aggressive designs in her national policies. The Conference afforded her an unique opportunity for a declaration before the entire world of Japan's exact position in international and especially Far Eastern situations. Japan is under an obligation for the opportunity of thus emphasising the fact that her policies were based on peace and legitimate national growth. The clouds hitherto hanging over the relations between Japan and America have now been dispersed.

"The Shantung issue has been settled through the good offices of the American and British delegates. The world now understands Japan's attitude of conciliation in regard to China and improvement may now be expected in the relations between the two countries. As a believer in the blessings derivable by mankind from the practical operation of the principle of economic inter-dependence of nations, I warmly welcome the happy results of the negotiations of the great international assembly just closed."

BULLETS FLY IN ERIN AGAIN; HOMES IN NORTH RAIDED; PACT IMPERILED

Prominent Unionists In Tyrone And Fermanagh Kidnapped By Sinn Feiners; Police Ambushed, With Casualties On Both Sides

BOUNDARY ISSUES CAUSE OF STRIFE

British Government Orders Troop Commander To Give "All Necessary Aid To Northerners, And To Call For More Men If Necessary"

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 8.—Simultaneous raids, on a forty mile area early this morning, resulted in the kidnapping from their residences, sometimes after resistance, of a number of prominent Unionists of Tyrone and Fermanagh, who were all carried over the borders of Ulster.

Special constables in motor cars pursued the raiders. Brisk fighting occurred at a number of points. One party of police were ambushed and casualties occurred on both sides. Altogether eleven police were kidnapped, and fifteen raiders were captured at Enniskillen.

Great excitement prevails in both counties where feeling is already high over the boundary dispute. Unionist reprisals are feared.

Captain Craig questioned the Secretary of State for Ireland in the House of Commons on the subject, but the Speaker disallowed the question, because Parliament had transferred responsibility to the Northern Parliament.

Mr. Austen Chamberlain concurred in this view.

Mr. Chamberlain stated that immediately after the news of the Sinn Fein raids in North Ireland had been received, the Government considered the situation and telegraphed to the Commander-in-Chief of the forces in Ireland instructing him to give the Northern Government all necessary aid in defending the boundary and not to hesitate to ask for reinforcements if necessary. Mr. Chamberlain added that the troops in North Ireland would be ready actively to support the civil power in defense of the existing frontier. The Government also telegraphed to Mr. Michael Collins saying that if anything approximating Sir James Craig's allegations had happened, the Government would take a most serious view of the situation. The telegram added that such acts were a breach of the truce and would gravely imperil the treaty: "We will be glad to hear that you are taking immediate steps to ensure the release of the prisoners and to provide against the repetition of these grave outrages"

Mr. Chamberlain said that a telegram from the Secretary of the Northern Cabinet stated that large bands had crossed the frontiers at Derry, Tyrone and Fermanagh and had attacked and occupied the houses of leading citizens on the Ulster side. These citizens were either wounded or kidnapped and taken Southwards. The bridges were blown up. Twenty Ulster special constables were kidnapped and taken across the border. The Northern police has captured eleven men belonging to the Republican army armed with bombs and revolvers.

Mr. Chamberlain announced that a reply had been received from Mr. Collins stating that the outbreak was due to the apprehension regarding the fate of the Sinn Fein prisoners under sentence of death at Derry. Mr. Collins added that he had made special efforts to prevent these acts of violence although he was then unaware that the sentences had been commuted to penal servitude. The Provisional Government declared that they were doing everything they possibly could to assure the safety and early return home of those captured.

London, Feb. 8.—Interviewed regarding the kidnappings, Mr. Collins declared that it was what he feared would happen, and what any sensible person would expect. Persons, whose feelings were outraged by impending executions, he said, could not take any other action.

It is reported from Dublin that some of the persons kidnapped may be detained till the release of certain Monaghan footballers, who were arrested whilst going to Derry.

It appears that the Sein Feiners sentenced to death at Londonderry have been reprieved.

Sir James Craig, the North Ireland Premier, who is now in London has sent a message to the people of Ulster, saying that he is taking vigorous steps in London with regard to the outrages, and that he has arranged for the immediate distribution of arms necessary for the protection of the border. He declares that the raids merely strengthen the determination of Ulster to hold what she has and he blames the British Government for demobilising the Special Constabulary.

FRENCH SENATE MAY HALT PLAN TO HELP BANQUE

Upper House Less Favorably Disposed Than Chamber

(Reuter's Service)

London, Feb. 8.—The correspondent of the Times at Paris states that the report of M. Jeanneney with regard to the Banque Industrielle de Chine, which was read before the Senate Finance Commission, is described as very severe and searching.

It seems that the Senate is not as favorably disposed as the Chamber to the refloatation of the bank, and may be disposed merely to sanction Government reimbursement to depositors from the Boxer Indemnity.

According to the Matin, several members of the Commission are of the opinion that they should refuse to have anything to do with the business, which properly should remain in the hands of the Ministry of Justice.

It is considered that the Boxer Indemnity will not be sufficient to repay all depositors, since it does not exceed £7,000,000, while the liabilities are estimated at nearly £14,000,000.

If, therefore, the Senate, after hearing Premier Poincare, insists on the modification of the project, an order of priority for reimbursement must be established. It seems generally agreed that the Chinese depositors will come first and then colonial civil servants.

HUGE FORGERIES BY MINT WORKER BLOCKED HERE

Accountant Who Obtained $87,000 Is Nabbed; Money Recovered

Clever detective work on the part of Inspector Eek and Detective Sergeant Douglas late yesterday cleared up what the police term one of the most brazen cases on forgery in Shanghai's criminal annals.

As a result, Loh Kweh-hsung, young Chinese accountant of the Shanghai mint, is being held on a charge of cashing forged checks to the amount of $87,000 at local banks. All of the sum, which was in bank notes and drafts, with the exception of $1,000 has been recovered by the police.

According to the police charges, which were filed yesterday morning in the Mixed Court before American Assessor Tenney and Magistrate Yui, Loh took advantage of the absence in Peking of Sah Fu-mou, managing director of the mint, and forged the latter's name to a number of checks for large amounts. These, the police say, he cashed on the Bank of Communications for Tls. 2,000 and $6,500; the Bank of East Asia for Tls. 22,000; the Shanghai Commercial Savings Bank for Tls. 9,000 and $7,000, and the Chekiang Industrial Bank for Tls. 9,000 and $3,500.

Admissions made by members of the man's family to the police revealed that he had engaged accommodations to leave yesterday for Kobe on a "business trip." A great part of the money and drafts was recovered on his person when he was arrested. The remainder was found in a lodging house where he had been stopping.

The arrest was brought about when officials of the Chekiang Industrial Bank, the last to be visited by the man, became suspicious because they had received no notification from the mint of their intention to demand such large sums. An investigation of the checks showed that the signatures on them tallied exactly with those of the director. Nevertheless, the bank cashiers telephoned the mint. On learning that the director was out of town, they notified the police, and the accountant was arrested just after he had cashed the last of the fraudulent checks.

A large sum of money was found on Loh's person, and investigation revealed the fact that he had cashed checks for large amounts at the other three banks.

When the hearing of the case came up before the Mixed Court yesterday it was remanded for one week, pending the return to Shanghai of the managing director of the mint.

PRINCE OF WALES RIDES ELEPHANT IN INDIAN FETE

Colorful Pageant At Gwalior Mile And Quarter Long

(Reuter's Service)

Prince of Wales' Camp, Gwalior, Feb. 8.—The Prince of Wales made a state entry into Gwalior City this morning, riding in an elephant procession, reminiscent of the barbaric grandeur of Moghul days. His Royal Highness was met at the station on arrival by the Maharajah of Scindia together with his little daughter, Mary, and his tiny son, George.

The Prince, after the formal greetings, mounted a century old elephant called Heragaz, said to be the tallest of its species in India.

A pageant was thus formed, a mile and a quarter long, comprising 19 elephants, all grotesquely painted and magnificently caparisoned, bearing gold and silver howdahs, carrying the Prince's staff and the state nobles. To the frenzied music of tom tom bands the pageant proceeded slowly along a league long route to the Palace through lines of troops, who appeared to have been mainly recruited for their fierce looks, harmonising with their garishly picturesque uniforms.

The whole spectacle was one of impressive Oriental splendor and rich coloring, blending with quaint humor as in the case of a fine elephant named Said Nobat, whose dignified mien was sadly impaired by a monocle painted around his right eye.

The Prince of Wales attended the great Durbar at Jai Bilas Palace in Hace approached by a crystal staircase, receiving the customary offerings.

In the afternoon His Royal Highness formally opened the new King George's Park at Kashkar. As the Prince unlocked the main gate with a golden key, all other entrances were automatically opened to the crowds waiting without. The grand old port looking over this pleasure domain was wonderfully decorated for the occasion.

In the evening the Prince of Wales attended a State banquet. The Maharaja of Scindia proposed the health of His Royal Highness, who replied in a speech eulogising the splendid loyalty of Gwalior in the past and reviewing her great services during the war.

Eight ringleaders were dismissed, however, and police are watching the works for fear of disturbances.

CHINESE VERSE DELIGHTS MANY AT MUSICALE

Mrs. Hollis A. Wilbur of 124 Dixwell Road gave a delightful musicale yesterday afternoon to about forty of her friends. After the daintiest of teas had been served the guests were privileged to hear Mrs. Richard Vanderburgh sing "By the Waters of Minnetonka" by Lieurance (by request) and the "Hindu Slumber Song" by Harriet Ware. Miss Louise Hammond of Wusih then gave some informal illustrations of the method she has evolved to reproduce in English lyrics the essence of Chinese poetry just as Chinese scholars read, or rather, sing it to themselves.

Miss Hammond is a proficient Chinese scholar, her ear has been trained to catch the nuances of English verse and music and best of all she has that sympathetic imagination which enables her to catch the pirit of the literature of the people whom she interprets. The airs for these poems which she has translated into English verse were set down from the lips of her teacher and Miss Hammond has added the harmony, keeping the exact air.

To keep the exact form of the original Miss Hammond has sometimes been forced to omit something of the original, but as she gave the literal translation so that the audience could compare the versions one wondered at the skill of the transliteration. All the little poems—Spring, on being Denied Admittance to a Garden, Drinking Song and like phases of Chinese life—in their appealing translation and Oriental harmony breathed the fragrance of the real life of this fascinating land.

Miss Bernice Austin closed the program by her charming rendition of "Phyllis" by H. Lane Wilson and "Carissima."

Sailor Is Fined $20 For Firing Pistol On Canton Road Jetty

Fred Dudding, a sailor from the Glen Line ship Bengal, was fined $20 in the British Police Court by Magistrate G. W. King for being drunk and disorderly and firing a revolver on the Canton Road jetty at 12:15 a.m. yesterday.

With Dudding there also appeared Pat Condon, also charged with disorderly conduct, but he was discharged because of insufficient evidence. The police gave evidence that Dudding was arrested by a Chinese constable after firing the shot and that he evidently did not realise what he had done when brought to the station, being extremely drunk. Dudding said that he carried the revolver for protection and that he had fired in the air to frighten sampan men who were molesting him. The Magistrate told the defendant he was lucky that there was no suggestion he had fired at any one. The pistol was ordered

Shanghai Rotary Club To Study Labor Question

Purpose To Investigate Factory Conditions Set In Motion At Tiffin Meeting

Active measures are to be taken by the Shanghai Rotary Club to inquire into general labor conditions of factories in Shanghai and this purpose is to be put in motion by a Welfare and Public Affairs Committee appointed yesterday at the organisation's regular weekly tiffin which was held at the Union Club.

The naming of the committee followed a number of addresses one of which by a guest, Miss Agatha Harrison, who is in China to make a sociological survey for the Y.W.C.A. She discussed child labor in particular.

The opening remarks were made by Mr. W. J. Hawkins, who set forth the aims of the Rotary organisation. He was followed by Mr. K. J. Corkery who addressed a number of questions to the gathering closing with the query, 'Is the employer playing the game?'

Prof. C. F. Remer, professor of economics at St. John's University gave a wholly enlightening address on the industrial labor problem, pointing out the application of principles of economic to modern business.

"We need information more than anything else," said Professor Remer. He declared that before we can do anything to improve the labor situation we must know whether there are standards now in the mills of China with regard to children and how these standards, if any exists, differ in various factories.

SUGGESTS CONFERENCE

Professor Remer suggested that the mill owners get together for co-operation and appoint an advisory committee that would not be under the thumbs of the owners nor influenced by the workers but that would examine conditions carefully and report on them to the mill owners who would be free to take or leave the advice, as they wished.

Not all the discussion was for the immediate and absolute abolition of child labor. Mr. Elliott, of Amos Bird & Co. gave an outline of the methods employed in their factories and stated emphatically that he did not feel that he wanted the responsibility of putting an end to child labor in their factory when he knew that the children would work anyway and almost certainly under less favorable conditions.

"Before I can give my support to the enactment of legislation doing away with child labor here," he said, "I want to be sure that the legislation will be constructive. If we take something away from these children—and we should be taking their living from them in almost every case—we should give them something back."

The children in the Amos Bird factories are all over 9 years of age and work only on day shifts under sanitary conditions that are, without doubt, superior to their home surroundings.

WOMAN SPEAKS

Miss Agatha Harrison, the only woman speaker, who has been through several factory districts in China answered Mr. Elliott's talk by asking why the wages of fathers were not enough to cover the needs of their families.

"Is a man not supposed to be given a wage that will, at least, buy rice for himself and his family?" she asked. "Why must a child of tender years be dependent on its own efforts to get its living?"

Miss Harrison made a humanitarian appeal to the Rotarians for the suppression of child labor, basing her appeal on the wretched conditions which she has seen everywhere in China that she has travelled.

"Let us have done with facts," she exclaimed. "We have enough facts: what we want is intelligent action. If you must have more facts I would suggest that you gentlemen go to the Jessfield and Pootung factory districts yourselves between 4 and 6 in the morning and see the tiny children that are tramping through the cold and darkness to conditions that so far as they concern humanity are unspeakable.

"In machinery the factories are up to the minute: in taking care of the human element they are hundreds of years behind."

More than 100 Rotarians and guests were present at the tiffin. Among the guests were Mrs. Cunningham, Mr. Brook Smith, Mr. Galvin, Dr. and Mrs. Hodgkin, Mr. Ellis, Mr. Morris, Mrs. Norman, Mrs. Holgate, Mrs. Corkery, and Mrs. Sailor.

WOMEN WORKING FOR REGISTRATION OF ALL SERVANTS

Under the direction of the members of the American Woman's Club and leading French women of the community petitions are being circulated through the Settlement urging that a Municipal Registration of Chinese domestic servants be established by the Municipal Council.

The petition is the outcome of a movement started by Mrs. P. L. Bryant some four years ago among the American women who were enthusiastic but feared that without the British and French co-operation the scheme would not be effective. The cordial and whole hearted support of the British and French women has been received and it is believed that the petitions of the women will prove effective.

After a number of meetings of committees from the various organisations, including Mesdames Gull and McMichael, of the B. W. A. Mesdames Bryant, Fearn and Raven of the American Woman's Club and Mmes. Wilden and Muguet, a petition was drafted. When signed with a sufficient number of names it will be presented to the Municipal Council.

Practically every housewife in the British, American and French communities has signed it and it soon will be presented to the Councils of the International and French Municipalities for their consideration and action.

Because of the difficulty Shanghai housekeepers are having in employing Chinese servants, in getting suitable servants at appropriate wages, in coping with these improper use of recommendation letters, of boycotting of certain houses, thefts by discharged servants, and a number of other reasons the club women feel that they must apply to the Councils for protection and relief.

So successful has been the registration of chauffeurs from both the employers' and chauffeurs' point of view that the women feel that the registration of servants will prove as satisfactory.

GIRL BRINGS SUIT AS A RESULT OF MOTOR ACCIDENT

Hearing of a suit for Tls. 1,98[illegible] and $12 brought against Mr. E. S. Barraclough, a mercantile assistant, and Mr. O. S. B. Rowe, a share broker, by Miss Geralding Ehmann as a result of a collision between a motor car and the plaintiff's ricsha was begun before Judge Peter Grain and a jury in the British Supreme Court yesterday.

Miss Ehmann, who is an American, employed by the United States Steel Corporation, is represented by Mr. P. W. Goldring and defendants by Mr. K. E. Newman.

The plaintiff claims that on November 11 last at about 4 p.m. as she was riding in a ricsha along Bubbling Well Road near the Belgian Consulate the motor car, owned by Mr. Rowe and driven at the time by Mr. Barraclough, crashed into her vehicle without warning, causing her injuries and doing considerable damage to her clothing and to a parcel of lingerie which she was carrying.

The defense denies negligence and claims that there was contributory negligence on the part of the ricsha puller, who swerved without warning and made the collision inevitable. While denying liability the defendants brought to court Tls. 500 which they contend is sufficient to satisfy the plaintiff's claim.

Counsel for the plaintiff in outlining the case said he regretted to have to mention that there was a positive statement that the defendants were under the influence of liquor and that Mr. Rowe, in giving Mr. Barraclough's name gave an address which was not correct, evidently with intent to mislead.

The plaintiff, testifying, said that she heard no horn sounded and the first thing she knew she was being pushed along the ground by the wheel of the car. When she had picked herself up the car was stopped and the defendants were sitting in the front seat "grinning as though they had done a marvellous deed." Barraclough had driven away after giving his name to a policeman and when she expressed a desire to be taken to hospital the other defendant had procured a ricsha and suggested that she see Dr. Jackson. He eventually secured a motor car but declined to go to see the doctor with her. She was six days in hospital, during which time the defendants made no inquiries as to her condition.

Evidence was given by other witnesses and the case was adjourned until this morning.

The jury is composed of Messrs. P. A. Crosthwaite, foreman, D. Leigh, J. H. Ezekial, J. C. Payne and E. Salmon.

American School Beats Chiactung U. V At Basketball

The Shanghai American School basketball team beat the whole Chiao-tung university, which includes Nanyang, Peking and Tungshan colleges, at basketball at the "Y" last night by a score of 44-33. The American boys had the game all the way, holding their advantage about even throughout. At half time the count was Americans 21, Chinese 16. By the time the final whistle was blown, the half time scores were just about doubled.

The Marine Engineers' Football Club entertains tomorrow evening at their club rooms in the Whiteaway, Laidlaw building with a smoker, which, according to information given out by those in charge of arrangements will be one of the biggest sporting social entertainments ever given in Shanghai. Among the artists who are on the program are: E. R. Morrison, the Scotch singer; S. J. Deeks, the well known tenor; K. Begdon, the piper and dancer; Kortright, the clever ventriloquist; Ling, an excellent comedian; "Jimmy" Robertson, a fine vocalist; the always popular Bert Stormes; G. S. Scott, who knows how to recite Kipling and an orchestra helped out by Charley Parsons and Syd. Webb at the piano. Peking, Feb. 6.—On Saturday night in the Peking Y. M. C. A. two games were played between basketball teams representing Peking and Tientsin organisations. In the first the local Y. M. C. On Friday night of this week the Y. M. C. A. will meet the 15th Infantry team from Tientsin in a game which promises to be one of the best of the basketball season.

A second game will be played on Saturday night by the Infantry, this time their opponents being the Marine five. Both games will be played in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium and are expected to be the last of the inter-port series.

BEARCATS WIN DOUBLE BILL AT "Y"; BEAT Y.M.C.A. AND SHANGHAI COLLEGE STUDENTS

Keep Perfect Score In League With 14 Straight Wins; 3 Games Tonight

The Bearcats took two games last night, at the "Y", one a regularly scheduled Foreign League event with the Y.M.C.A. five at a score of 44-31, and the second a friendly affair with the Shanghai College by a score of 57-4.

The latter match was the first game outside of the league schedule that the Bearcats have played this season. It is also the widest score that has been scored in this season's play.

The Bearcats had a fairly easy time of it with the "Y" team. They piled up a nice lead, and then worked in their substitutes: the crippled Hirsh for Gledart and a newcomer Wilhelmni for Gray. The latter did well considering it was his first appearance on local floors, and with a little work-in may develop Bearcat class.

The second match was a runaway for Irle's team. The league leaders appeared to be apprehensive at first that they might be up against a team as strong as they, and they went to the scoring to make sure. At half time they had the game 33-4, and in the second half, though they slackened up in their offensive, scored 24 more points while holding the Chinese team to nothing.

TONIGHT'S GAMES

By agreement the Shanghai College-Fearon Daniel game scheduled for last night at the college was postponed. Two of the Hong's men were due at the American Co., S. V. C. drill last night, so it was arranged that the match be played tonight.

The Bowside and Strokeside play their second round game tonight commencing at 5:30 at the Rowing Club. The game is certain to be a good one, for either side of the Club is always out to beat the other. The Strokeside won the first game a month ago, 32-29 after the hardest play they had gone through.

The second regular league game, that between the American School and Anderson Meyer will undoubtedly be forfeited for the latter team has practically dropped out of the game.

Amtraco Five To Play At Soochow

American Trading Company's basketball team goes to Soochow tomorrow to play the faculty of the Soochow university, which on its visit to Shanghai last week beat the Strokeside 31-23, and the American School team 50-28.

Murder Of Korean Remains Mystery

The Chinese authorities are investigating the murder of a young Korean whose body, pierced by three bullets, was found lying near the No. 2 railway gate near Paoting Road, Chapei, on Wednesday, and had discovered nothing tending to clear up the mystery up to last night.

The youth, who is said to have been a naturalised Chinese citizen, was, according to certain witnesses, walking along the railway Wednesday morning when two or three men—the reports differ as to the number—stepped in front of him and fired several shots. They wore foreign clothes and immediately after the shooting, fled. The body lay where it fell for some time before being removed by the Chinese authorities. The scene of the shooting is in Chinese territory.

In a Nutshell

A person 'phoned our office Wednesday and asked us for the address of a local employment agency. They had read his advertisement in the Classified Columns and planned to call on him the first time they needed his services. In the meantime he had allowed his advertisement to expire so the connection would not have been accomplished had we not received the call.

That is where consistent advertising, even in a small way, pays.

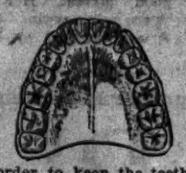
KINGMAN & BROS.
How to Preserve the Teeth



In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis, esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr. KINGMAN to the subscribers consist in:—
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

Exchange Market

Messrs. Maitland, Fearon and Brand write as follows in their exchange circular for week ending Wednesday:

Exchange:—The London price of silver at 34⅜d. is ⅝d. lower than the closing rate in our last circular published January 25. Our rate for T.T. on London at 3s. 4d. has dropped 2d. since that date. In the absence of cover in the shape of export paper and with a fair demand for gold remittances our market has ruled weak. For the present this condition is likely to continue, as exports remain in a stagnant condition and money locally is easy. We close weak.

Our stocks of silver are reported as follows:

Sycee and Bar Silver Tls. 31,554,000, an increase of Tls. 1,194,000.

Chinese and Mexican Dollars $21,940,000, an increase of $580,000.

Estimated value in Tls. 47,350,000, as against Tls. 64,600,000 held at this time last year.

Freight Market

Messrs. Wheelock and Company write as follows in their freight market report:

There is no change to report in either of our outward freight markets since last writing as China New Year has intervened since then and it is rather too soon after the holidays for a resumption of business. We hope, however, that the easier tendency in the rate of exchange will assist towards the long hoped for improvement in the export trade.

Coastwise:—The seamen's strike in Hongkong has now been futher aggravated by the strike of the stevedores in consequence of which all the Southern coasting trade has been completely paralysed. This has naturally re-acted on our Northern market and, combined with China New Year, has rendered our market extremely dull. The port of Tientsin is expected to open towards the end of this week.

Labor Unionism In Canton

(Editor's Note: In view of the Seamen's strike the following study of the labor union situation in the south is of immediate importance. Mr. Keith made this investigation just before the present strike was launched and mailed his report to The China Press. He is now up north but, unaccountably, the article has just reached us.)

BY ORRIN KEITH

THE first attempt to form a labor union in Canton was back in 1909. The then Taotai was a man who liked to be considered progressive and he received kindly the request of the machine-shop men to form a union: he even encouraged them. But he took good care to see that, after they were organised, they did not become too progressive and begin to accomplish things which might change unduly the condition of the laborers.

So, although the organisation known as the Mechanics' Union was formed at that time and continued its existence, no real progress was made until the last year or two. In February, 1920, the Hongkong branch of this union declared a strike to enforce its demands for higher wages. After a brief struggle the employers agreed to a raise of 32½ percent for all mechanics then receiving less than $100 per month, and a 20 percent increase for all who received more than that.

With this example before them, the Canton branch immediately began to talk of asserting themselves in the same way. But laborers' troubles were not of interest to the men in power at that time. The Kwangsi militarists believed in "peace and order" in their domain. Labor unions were trouble makers. Therefore they were sternly repressed. All talk of strikes was prohibited and even their meetings were discontinued. The workingman was under the heel of the military.

Under these circumstances it was to be expected that the workers would welcome any change of government and they wept no tears over the defeat and expulsion of Mok and his followers, in November last. The next thing was to sound out the new rulers and see how they were inclined toward the laborers and their aspirations. In December an agitation for higher wages was begun. There was no strike for both parties appealed to the government to intervene and decide the matter. In May a new scale of wages was agreed upon. The net results to the Union were highly satisfactory. All workers who had been receiving less than 50 cents a day were given a forty percent raise; those who had received between fifty cents and a dollar were given an increase of thirty percent; those between one and two dollars, twenty percent; and those above two dollars ten percent.

The Mechanics Union is the largest at Canton. It claims 13,000 members in Kwangtung Province. A close second, however, is the Building Trades Union with 12,000 or more members. This organisation, when it was evident that the new government was not pursuing the repressive policy of the Kwangsi regime, resolved upon action. A strike was called in July. It lasted two weeks and resulted in a flat raise of fifty percent for all men in the building trades.

There have been a number of other strikes since that time, although the numbers involved have not been large. Employers have sometimes employed strike-breakers and there has been some resort to violence on the part of the strikers. Once or twice it has been necessary to call out the police. A general plan of procedure is working itself out, however, so that such actions will be less and less necessary. In spite of the decisions of the government, which so far have been quite favorable to the unions, employers seem to have sufficient confidence in the fairness of the administration to accept its mediation and its final judgment. So when a dispute arises now both parties go at once to Governor Chen. He has his Chief Secretary call a conference which undertakes to thresh the matter out. With all the cards on the table it is possible in most cases to secure an agreement of the parties. While this method of adjusting disputes has proved favorable in the main to the laborers, still the feeling prevails that the government will not go too far in that direction. It has had no hesitation in throwing out unreasonable claims which if granted would constitute a burden upon industry.

It is almost needless to say that the laborers are heartily supporting the present government. They raised funds among their own members to help finance the campaign against Kwangsi last July and when General Chen returned triumphant they held a grand celebration. They are also unanimously behind the Northern campaign. They want to see the southern governmental ideas extended to all China because they think the lot of the workers would be far better than under the present regime. The abolition of gambling, the measures against opium-smoking, the road improvements, and the other indications of enlightened rule on the part of the Canton Government have appealed strongly to the workers.

Unionism has already reached the federation stage in Canton. The Federation of Labor Unions is composed of eighty-three unions and represents a total membership of 400,000, about 10,000 of whom are women employed in the silk filatures. The monthly dues in the separate unions run from twenty to fifty cents. The Federation is financed by payments from the various unions running from five to fifty dollars a month. The total income is between $2,000 and $3,000 per annum. This is hardly as much as the monthly income of the larger unions such as the Mechanics. The separate unions are inspired with the desire to erect buildings to house their offices, to furnish club rooms and rooms for the night classes, which are an important activity. The Mechanics' Union now has four classes running every night. One in Chinese; one in English; one in mathematics; and one in mechanical drawing. These are free to the members of the union. In addition there are frequent lectures on mechanics and physics for all members.

The father of Cantonese labor unionism, the "Gompers of Canton," is Wang Wan-ting. He was born in Kwangtung Province about fifty-five years ago and has been in machine shops most of the time since, though for a while he was chief engineer on a river steamer. Now he has his own shop and employs about eighteen or twenty workers. In spite of his obvious interest as an employer and "capitalist," he retains the unbounded confidence of the workers. He is President of the Mechanics Union, of which he was one of the founders, and he is General Secretary (there is no president) of the Federation of Labor Unions. His kindly, pock-marked face gives one much the same impression of benevolent ugliness that Gompers' sometimes does. And like Gompers, he is strongly in favor of a slow, healthy growth rather than a resort to extreme measures.

Lloyd George's Next Move

What His Plan For Economic Rebuilding Of Europe Must Embrace

BY P. W. WILSON

Uncertain as have been Mr. Lloyd George's arrangements, there is, I believe, no doubt that, six weeks ago, it was his definite intention to visit the United States during the month of January and that even today he regards this visit, not as abandoned but only as postponed. The delay has been due in the first place, as was evident, to Ireland, while at the moment the difficulty is a debate with France, which must be concluded in Europe if the proposed visit is to serve any useful purpose. For some years Mr. Balfour was, of course, Prime Minister of Great Britain, but Mr. Lloyd George's trip across the ocean would be the first made by any Prime Minister during his term of office, and his object is neither controversy nor compliment nor ceremonial, but business—urgent business—good business, so he will submit, both for the new world and for the old. If he comes it will be to talk plainly—to play certain specific cards face upward on the table—and await the result.

PROBLEMS FACING PREMIER

Frankly, Mr. Lloyd George regards himself as responsible first for British interests. No one can understand his attitude who does not examine the problem which faces him as Prime Minister in his own country. That problem is not political but economic. Before the war, unemployment in Great Britain was about 2 percent, or one person in fifty. The other forty-nine were at work. In November last unemployment was 15.6 percent, or almost one person in six. It was an evil, seven times as serious as it had been eight years ago. At various periods in her history, and even during the Victorian era, Britain has had to face severe distress, due to her dependence on foreign trade, but a spell of depression, so grave as this, would if prolonged lead to emigration as the only relief which emigration, like any other kind of blood-letting, would weaken the old country, however much it might strengthen—let us say—Australia. If Britain is to maintain a population of 750 persons for every square mile she must conduct a big foreign trade. In ten years, which included four years of war, her people increased—despite emigration—by two millions. It is still a vital race.

Let us look at one or two of the facts. In September, 1920, there were 300 blast furnaces at work in Britain. Today there are hardly 100, and the output of pig iron is less than half what it was. In Lancashire a further reduction of wages is under discussion by the cotton trade. According to Lord Inchcape, the Chairman of the Peninsular and Oriental Steamship Company, there were at a recent date no fewer than 650 British vessels, aggregating more than a million tons, lying idle in the ports of the United Kingdom, and he estimated that another million tons of British shipping were laid up abroad for lack of cargoes. At this moment in New York there are thousands of British seamen out of work, and officers of the mercantile marine are not less hard put to it. For a country as self-contained as France or the United States such facts as these would be serious, but they would not be vital. They might, and, according to Mr. Hoover, they do, drive the unemployed back to the farms, but they do not drive families to seek a living abroad. For Britain, however, they mean life or death. They are reflected already in her public finance. During the current year the British revenue, announced in the budget, should exceed $5,000,000,000. Nine months of the financial year have passed, but the receipts to date are only about $3,500,000,000, and a deficit seems scarcely avoidable. Yet, a handsome surplus had been anticipated. And it is significant that, in order to relieve industry, Sir Robert Horne, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, should announce that he will allow payments of the excess profits tax to be spread over a period of five years. As illustrating the general decline in dividends, I may mention the case of Coats, the great cotton firm. In twelve months their margin of profit fell, in round numbers, from £4,000,000 to £2,000,000.

To some extent the slump has been, doubtless, Britain's own fault. There were the coal strike and other labor troubles. According to Lord Inchcape, a ton of cargo can be handled at Antwerp for 2 shillings, or 50 cents. At Middlesborough, on the coast of Yorkshire, he says that the cost would be 6 shillings, or $1.50—that is, three times as much. The Economist, which is the leading financial organ in London, says that American coke was selling at the oven last Summer for 12 shillings a ton, which price included a profit. British coke, however, was selling for as much as 30 shillings a ton, and even this price did not cover cost of production—it meant a loss. On the whole, the traffic on railways in Britain is no heavier than before the war. More passengers are carried for short distances, but there is less freight. Yet the cost to the public of this transport has risen from, say, $800,000,000 to double that figure. Indeed, the comparison is worse than this. The lower figure includes about $200,000,000 paid as dividend to the proprietors, the higher figure makes hardly any such provision. Great Britain has $6,000,000,000 invested in our British railway. In the years of record they only earned $30,000,000 as return on this capital. The Treasury is making good the difference.

Slowly, but surely, the British workman is learning his lesson. Since the armistice wages have been steadily deflated, the cost of living has fallen one-third, and it is admitted that even in the building trades there has been of late much steadier industry. Internally, the country is settling down, but this, however, satisfactory so far as it goes, is not enough unless there is to be foreign trade. Such foreign trade cannot be conducted by armies and navies, and Britain is therefore supporting any and every measure of disarmament, the wide world over. Nor can foreign trade, dependent as it is on credit, survive constant threats of the next war. If there is to be such commerce, the next war must be indefinitely postponed. It is hoped in Britain that "the next war" in the Far East, if there was ever any danger of it, has been forestalled and averted by the Washington conference. So far, so good. But there remains the European situation.

THE EUROPEAN SITUATION

Napoleon used to describe the English as a nation of shopkeepers, and he was right. Critics of England in Paris, who complain that her statesmen apply economic standards to the politics of Europe, are merely stating what the British themselves wish to have understood. They argue that without commerce there can be no content, and they search in vain for the bliss that comes of bankruptcy. Before the war one-third of Britain's trade was with Europe, and she wants it back again. Germany was Britain's best customer and, second only to Austria-Hungary, Britain was Germany's best customer. In coming to the assistance of France, Britain struck a direct blow at her most substantial trade. In the excitement she may not have realised it, but the arithmetic is now as clear as two and two making four.

For Britain, therefore, a divided Europe, perennially pursuing the feud between Frank and Hun, means that her main market is restricted and, in the event of war, finally ruined. She is bound therefore to work for what the late Mr. Stead called the United States of Europe and what Lord Salisbury knew as the Concert of Europe. The ancient Christendom must be conciliated into the Holy Roman Empire, described by Viscount Bryce. That is the underlying aim of Great Britain and, in her view, the larger the united Europe, the better the markets for all concerned. Hence, she would include Russia.

For "the known world" consists no longer of the shores of the Mediterranean, with a dim hinterland of barbarism beyond. Europe is now only one of the civilised continents and other continents are being organised on the continental scale. The United States, for instance, is a fiscal as well as a political unit and within her tariff wall there is free trade. Of India, with a population exceeding that of Europe by scores of millions, the same thing is true. And China, with a population probably equal to India's, has one frontier of custom houses, despite her other divisions into provinces.

NEED OF UNITY IN EUROPE

If Europe is to talk with the rest of the world on equal terms she must cease to be an infortuitous concatenation of ever colliding and never cohering atoms. Before the war, she was sundered into no fewer than a score of separate sovereignties. Today, the sovereignties are even more numerous, being at least two dozen. These little States—half of them containing fewer people than London or New York City—look at the problems of statesmanship solely from the racial or nationalist standpoint. Few of them have any knowledge of economic science. I well remember meeting Professor Masaryk, President of Czechoslovakia, when he was in New York—a man whose name is written forever in history. But even he gravely stated that Britain had adopted a protective tariff, as if it were a fact, and when I asked him for his authority replied that he had read all about it in German textbooks! Apparently, the basis of the assertion was our duty on eagle, a commodity selected—like tea—for taxation for the express reason that we do not produce it ourselves. Europe has today gone tariff mad. She is behaving exactly as the American Colonies would have behaved if they had started their independence by setting up fiscal frontiers, the one against the rest. It reminds one of England as a heptarchy, of Germany before Bismarck and of Italy before Cavour. The right to buy and sell must be regained by Europeans if Europe is to survive.

Behind all the discussions, whether in London, Paris or at Cannes, this restoration of commerce in Europe is the British objective. She admits at once that such commerce benefits Britain. Of that she makes no secret. But she also asserts that no benefit can accrue to Britain which is not also a benefit to the world at large. She seeks not national and exclusive, but international opportunities only. That, at least, is her contention, and an admirable illustration is Poland. She has enjoyed a good harvest. Her manufactures are going again. But her finances are crushed by bureaucracy and militarism and an appeal has been made by the Poles to England to put them on a sound footing.

FRANCE AND ENGLAND

If Mr. Lloyd George were free to speak, what he would say today is, I imagine, that while France is facing fears, England has to face facts. Whether or not Germans march into Paris one hundred years hence, one thing is certain, and that is the march of hungry men through the streets of London. Britain does not believe that Europe at work will lead to Europe at war. Her conviction is the direct opposite of this. At Cannes, therefore, Mr. Lloyd George's case is somewhat as follows: He will appeal for the restored unity of Europe. This means that there must be, whether for friend or foe, a common obligation to the interests of Europe as a whole. It also means that, as far as possible, the division of Europe into debtor and creditor nations shall be mitigated. The bankers of Britain are ready here and now to see a cancellation of loans made by Britain to France, Italy and other Allies, even if Britain herself had to repay the United States. That attitude in the financial circles of London furnishes the Prime Minister with a strong bargaining point. If France is to be granted this remission, will she not agree to a corresponding adjustment of German reparations?

Given a financial adjustment at Cannes and the entire question of limiting armaments on land assumes a more promising aspect. The idea of using force to collect debts in Germany and Russia ceases to be an irritant. Then, surely, would be the suitable moment for Mr. Lloyd George to approach the United States, not as a rival of France, but as joining with France in an appeal, if that is the right word, made by both France and England as leaders of all Europe. The commitments of the United States in Europe far exceed her commitments in China. Trade with Europe and trade within Europe means inevitably trade for the United States. Militarism in Europe means for the United States a reflex of militarism in the Far East. It may be illogical but it is none the less true that a big army in France means a big army in Japan. If the meeting of the Supreme Council at Cannes succeeds, it will mean that a second conference at Washington is possible. It may never take place, but important obstacles will have been removed. It would be, doubtless, for such a second conference that Mr. Lloyd George would cross the ocean.

Tells Of Women's Activity At Washington Conference

The part played by women at the Washington Disarmament Conference was described to members of the Woman's Overseas League Wednesday afternoon by Mr. Jabin Hsu, staff correspondent of THE CHINA PRESS at the Conference.

Mr. Jabin Hsu said in part:

"President Harding was careful in seeing that the interest of the women was looked after at the arms parley by the appointment of four lady members on the advisory board of the American delegation," said Mr. Hsu. "The members were Mrs. Eleanor Franklin Egan, who toured North China last year in the interest of the Saturday Evening Post; Mrs. Charles Summer Bird of Massachusetts; Mrs. Thomas G. Winter of Minnesota and Mrs. Katherine Philips Edson of California. Just exactly what part the feminine section of the advisory committee did very few knew and less people cared.

"The only time when I saw them active was at a mass meeting held under the auspices of the District of Columbia Women's Committee on the Limitation of Armaments on the second day of the Conference, November 13, which pledged support to the American proposal for the naval reduction made by Secretary Hughes on the previous day.

"All four spoke eloquently. Mrs. Winter, speaking for the quartet said: 'America has again made its pledge to mankind. It is now the part of the people to put their strength behind the President and our delegates to insure the carrying out of the great purposes for which America stands.'

"Mrs. Edson, speaking for the Pacific Coast, remarked: 'There is no cynicism in the West as to the result of this conference. We believe that by meeting here, the differences of nations will be eliminated.'

"This mass meeting was truly impressive. Several hundred women attended. Miss Kate Manicom of England, who was elected by 58 nations at the International Congress of Working Women in Genoa, brought the following message:

"'War has spoiled the world for us women in Europe. We call upon the governments of the world to settle their disputes at a conference table before, not after, wars are fought. We don't undertake to tell you how it should be done, but we know that after the wars are fought men still have to sit down together and settle the matter. They should do that first.'

"The resolutions adopted by the meeting, the only one of its kind that I know of at the conference, read:

"'We express to President Harding our profound appreciation of the service he has rendered the world in calling the Conference on the Limitation of Armaments and to the American delegates for the significant step they have taken at its first session.

"'We urge the reduction of existing military establishments and control of the yet unmeasured powers of chemical science. We record our belief in the possibility of adjusting international disputes by methods other than war, and we call upon this Conference to devise means to this end, so as to bring the overburdened nations of the world the greatest possible assurance of permanent world peace.'

"These resolutions together with messages from distant lands were later submitted to President Harding."

LITTLE BODIES AND BIG PAINS.
TEETHING WITHOUT TEARS THROUGH BABY'S OWN TABLETS.

The misery and pain that many babies suffer through teething time is expressed eloquently enough in fits of pitiful crying, fever, refusal of food, and diarrhoea—or perhaps stipation. Baby's Own Tablets—guaranteed to contain no opiates and to be perfectly harmless—act like magic, relieve pain, comfort baby and give rest to the mother, while teething progresses without tears.

Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy, are safe and pleasant for the youngest infant and the growing child. Besides being so helpful during the teething period they remove constipation, allay feverishness, cure colic, indigestion and worms.

Obtainable from chemists, also at 60 cents the vial, post free from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., 96 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

THOS. H. INCE Presents
WILLIAM S. HART
IN
"The Poppy Girl's Husband"

With eyes that burned with hate and loathing he crept through the jimmied door of the apartment and in upon his beautiful, unsuspecting, erstwhile wife. He had determined to wreak upon her the most terrible vengeance that his cunning, criminal brain could conceive because she had committed the one unpardonable sin of his exclusive underworld clique.

Yet, when he left the room he left her unscarred and unharmed. His former love for her did not overcome his hate and loathing. His desire for revenge raged just as strong as before. Then what changed the mind of the arch-criminal? It's almost inexplicable. You'll have to see it to realize how real and thrilling this situation has been made.
